

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

62.57

1927.

APR 9 1927 ★

*A Unique
New Rose*

JUNIOR
" VAN
FLEET Roses

J. A. KEMP
LITTLE SILVER, N. J.

JUNIOR VAN FLEET

A NEW HARDY, DWARF-GROWING GARDEN ROSE

OWNERS of small gardens who admire the climbing Dr. W. Van Fleet, but could not grow it because of its rampant growing habit, will find in Junior Van Fleet a dwarf type of the famous climber, suitable for gardens of limited space, so that now all may have and enjoy flowers in abundance similar to that handsome climbing Rose. Junior Van Fleet is a seedling of

Dr. W. Van Fleet x Frau Karl Druschki

It is the same delicate flesh-pink as the original Dr. W. Van Fleet, but with slightly smaller and much more double flowers, having 20 to 30 additional petals. They have a mild, pleasing fragrance, and are very freely borne in clusters, on stems averaging about 15 inches long and keep well when cut.

The plant seems hardy as an oak and vigorous in its bushy growth of 3 to 4 feet each year. It is somewhat pendulous or drooping in its habit and easy to keep within bounds. The foliage is glossy rich green, much like its famous parents, and has thus far been entirely resistant to disease.

I worked for many years with Dr. Van Fleet when he was at Little Silver, and am happy to extend the usefulness of one of his best varieties in this hardy garden Rose.

AS I KNOW IT

Junior Van Fleet bloomed as a one-year seedling when the plant was not over 1 foot high. Each succeeding year it has produced its beautiful flowers in ever-increasing abundance. The picture gives some idea of the plant as it appeared when in bloom in its fourth year. It opens its first flowers a little ahead of, and blooms a little later than the climbing Dr. W. Van Fleet, the flowers being more double with somewhat better lasting qualities when cut. I regard Junior Van Fleet as a most valuable addition to our hardy garden Roses, and predict that it will become very popular with all lovers of the original Van Fleet. Its value for garden and landscape planting cannot be overestimated.

ONLY A FEW HUNDRED

One-year-old, field-grown plants will be available in the fall of 1927 and spring of 1928. Price, $2 each, $18 per doz., net to all. Orders filled to extent of stock, in the order of receipt.

J. A. KEMP, Originator

LITTLE SILVER NEW JERSEY

KEMP'S WONDER

Gladiolus Dahlias

Have an international reputation for their great size, perfection of form, and pleasing colors.

For nearly 30 years I have been breeding and growing GLADIOLUS, and I have worked with Dahlias for nearly 10 years. My originations and introductions of these two wonderful garden flowers are known throughout the world, wherever Gladiolus and Dahlias are grown.

My spring catalogue lists each year most of the prize-winning varieties of the East and West. It is a reliable guide to the connoisseur who wishes only the best.

CATALOGUE FREE FOR THE ASKING

J. A. KEMP

Breeder and Grower

LITTLE SILVER

NEW JERSEY